WHEREAS, to improve the quality of services to the transacting public, the development of system application is necessary in order for the Commission to strengthen and deliver its mandate;

WHEREAS, the implementation of the SEC Application Program Interface (SEC API) and the Company Investment and Financial Statistical Systems (CiFFS eSEARCH) are consistent with the sustainability efforts of the Commission;

WHEREAS, the development of IT-related systems and the delivery of these services entail costs; and as a matter of policy, fees and charges must sufficiently cover these costs;

NOW THEREFORE, the Commission hereby promulgates the implementation of the applicable fees for IT related services and increase in fees in securing official documents from the Commission:

1. SEC API Service. This is a software interface that enables the Commission to provide company profile information, financial information, and other data to our clients and stakeholders through application-to-application communication. APIs are based on a programming pattern or best practice that defines the rules by which application-to-application, and not application-to-user, communications may be conducted over remote network connections such as the Internet. Through this system, it allows direct transfer of data streams without the need for user intervention, allowing real time data transfer in a secure way.
